

Political signs are generally permitted in the unincorporated area of Mono County (i.e., outside the Town of Mammoth Lakes). They are subject only to such County restrictions as apply to signs generally, regardless of their content. Note: County Counsel has determined that certain provisions of the Mono County General Plan purporting to regulate political signs are invalid under current case law: specifically, those set forth in Section 07.020, Paragraph C, of the County's Land Development Regulations. Accordingly, the County does not enforce such provisions, and they are scheduled for removal or revision as part of a future General Plan amendment. In the meantime, they may be disregarded. We apologize for any inconvenience or confusion. Questions regarding applicable sign regulations of the Town of Mammoth Lakes should be directed to the Town.
